Abstract

Thematiztion and Rhematization (T&R) in the poetry of His Majesty King Abdulla 1 Bin Al-Husian.
Asma Atef AL-Rawashdeh
Mu'tah University, 2006

This dissertation aims at studying the process of thematization and rhematization (T&R), both grammatically and rhetorically, in the poetry of his Majesty King Abdulla 1 Bin Al-Husain. It also addresses the rationale of resorting to such a process, which reveals His Majesty's eloquence in employing T&R rhetorically, so that it concurs with what goes in His Majesty's mind, and with what he wants to convey to the recipients with ease. The study also highlights his Majesty's care with structure and meaning.

This study consists of an introduction, six chapters and a conclusion. The first chapter addresses the efforts of both ancient and modern grammarians and rhetoricians in studying T&R. The second chapter shows the logic behind His Majesty's use of T&R, so as to be acquainted with how he employs this in achieving rhetoric, which enriched the aesthetic and stylistic aspects of his poetry.

The remaining chapters are practical; they combine grammar and semantics. The third chapter approaches T&R and its relation to nominatives (fronting subject and predicate; fronting alnawasikh invalid judgments). The fourth chapter deals with accusatives, and the fifth chapter deals with phrases (Prepositional and adverbial phrases).

The sixth chapter is statistical. I tried to reveal the extent of using T&R to find out the most common patterns, and to show correlation between the rule and its applicability in the aspects of T&R in His Majesty's poetic woks.
